

NURSYS and e-Notify Service

To obtain up-to-date information about the current status of a PA nursing license, check the Department of State website www.pals.pa.gov/verify. If a PA nurse is licensed in another state, visit www.nursys.com to access additional information from Nursys, the National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN) national database for verification of nurse licensure, discipline and practice privileges for RNs and LPNs. Nursys data is comprised of data obtained directly from the licensure systems of US Boards of Nursing through frequent, secure updates. The PA Board of Nursing participates in this data sharing with Nursys as a matter of public safety. Employers may choose to receive automatic notifications of status and discipline changes from a service called Nursys e-Notify. Learn more about this service by visiting nursys.com. Please note that since each state must individually provide licensure data directly to NCSBN for inclusion into Nursys, there possibly could be a time lag for the data to appear in Nursys. Only data that can be found on the public website is available through nursys.com. Although PA shares data with Nursys, written verifications of licensure sent to other states are still processed by the Board.
