

About the Pennsylvania Firefly Assessment

The Firefly Student Progress Indicators are online benchmark tests designed to show a student's learning needs and mastery of content at the time the test is administered. Firefly test results project how a student will perform on the PSSA or Keystone Exams. Schools can use them to measure student progress and guide instruction throughout the school year.

It includes results from a single test session and will include progress within the year if your student has taken the assessment more than once. The Firefly scores have been used to predict a score range of how your student will perform on the PSSA or Keystone Exams.
