Activity Six: Decision Making Activity Worksheet: Responding to Risk

Short Answer Questions:

1. What are risk factors which you are normally exposed to while driving?

2. Which of the five risk responses could help you to mitigate these risks?

3. Explain how the above risk responses will help to reduce risks while driving.

4. Identify driving risks that you are most likely to encounter. Having identified them, how will you proactively work to reduce these risks?

Field Study Questions:

1. For the next week, read articles from newspapers reporting roadway crashes. Choose three crashes that occur. For each crash, look at the five responses to risk: risk avoidance, risk prevention, risk reduction, risk protection, and risk acceptance. How could implementing these have changed the outcome? Was the risk which the driver accepted a reasonable risk to take?
