

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

Information for Individuals on Interacting with Immigration Authorities or Law Enforcement

This document provides general information about your rights in the United States. It does not provide legal advice. Laws and procedure may change. Consult a licensed attorney for advice about your specific situation.

If You are Stopped in a Public Place, You Have the Right to:

- Ask for identification. You may ask the agent for their name, badge, and agency.
- Remain silent. You do not have to answer questions about your immigration status or birthplace. You may say, "I choose to remain silent."
- Ask if you are free to leave. If the agent says yes, you may calmly walk away.
- Say, "I do not consent to a search." Do not physically resist.
- Request an interpreter if you do not understand English.
- Ask to contact or notify your embassy or consulate.

Important: If you are not a U.S. citizen, are over the age of 18, and have valid immigration documents, federal law requires you to carry them (for example, a green card or I-94). If asked, you may be required to show them. U.S. citizens are not required to carry documents demonstrating their citizenship.

If Agents Come to Your Home:

- You do not have to open the door.
- You may ask the law enforcement agents to identify themselves and state their agency.
- You may ask them to slide any warrant under the door or show it through a window.
- Agents need a warrant signed by a judge to enter your home without your permission.
- If the warrant is not signed by a judge or does not list your correct name and address, you may refuse entry.

If Agents Enter Your Home:

- Do not physically resist.
- Clearly state, “I do not consent to this entry.”
- Ask to speak with a lawyer.
- Do not sign any documents without first speaking to an attorney.

If You Are Detained:

- You have the right to remain silent.
- You have the right to request an attorney or call your family. You have the right to be visited by an attorney in detention.
- You do not have to answer questions without a lawyer present.
- You have the right to request an interpreter.
- Do not sign documents you do not understand.
- Inform agents if you are the primary caregiver for a child.
- Inform agents if you have any medical conditions.

Protect Yourself from Immigration Scams

- Only take advice from licensed attorneys or accredited immigration representatives who represent you. You can search attorneys licensed in Pennsylvania here: <https://www.padisciplinaryboard.org/for-the-public/find-attorney>.
- Be cautious of “notarios” or “immigration consultants” who are not authorized to practice law.
- Always request a written agreement that explains services and fees.
- Do not give original documents to someone unless necessary and always keep copies.

Important Reminder

- This information applies to individuals in the United States regardless of immigration status.
- Laws and enforcement practices can change.
- For legal advice, contact a licensed immigration attorney or accredited representative.
