Searching for Courses in My Learning

1. Go to ESS (<https://www.myworkplace.pa.gov/>).
2. Click the "My Learning" tile located under COPA Home. "My Learning" homepage appears.
3. Under "Find Learning," click on "Browse all courses."
4. Under "Source" on the left side, use the dropdown arrow to select "Commonwealth University."

Booking Policy:

- The latest possible booking date is typically one (1) week (7 calendar days) prior to the session unless the course has a fee associated with it. The latest possible booking date for courses with a fee is typically three (3) weeks (21 calendar days) prior to the session.
 - Course attendance must be approved by the employee's supervisor. If the course is not approved by the supervisor by the latest possible booking date, the employee will NOT be invited to the course.
 - When registering for a course, employees should notify the supervisor so the request can be acted upon in a timely manner.
- Some courses are facilitated by vendors, or include course materials that must be paid for, and therefore include a fee in order to participate. Please ensure your supervisor is aware of and approves the cost of the course, should there be one. It is essential that you ensure that you are available to attend on the date requested or cancel your attendance more than three (3) weeks (21 calendar days) prior to the course start date to avoid course fees.
 - If you are unable to attend the session, your organization may still be charged the course fees if you fail to cancel your participation three (3) weeks (21 calendar days) prior to the course start date, unless a replacement can be found within 15 calendar days prior to the course start date, as the fees are paid to the vendor in advance to hold the learner's seat.
- Non-Supervisors are not eligible for supervisory courses.
 - Should a special situation exist, please contact RA-CU@pa.gov.

Registration is Open NOW!

- Contractors may participate in all eligible web-based training and all no-cost 'Microsoft Skill' series courses with appropriate supervisory approval. Contractors are not eligible for live instructor-led training within the Commonwealth University (CU) 'Professional Development,' 'Supervisory & Management,' or 'Diversity, Equity, Belonging & Inclusion (DEBI)' series.
 - Registrations by contractors, into courses they are not eligible for, will be cancelled and the contractor will NOT be invited to the course.
 - Should a special situation exist, for example a contractor/external partner who may need to attend a session for a specific reason, please contact RA-CU@pa.gov.
- Please note that there are many sessions provided outside of 'typical' business hours. These sessions are held to accommodate the needs of our many employees who work varied schedules. Additionally, sessions may be held over standard break/meal periods. With this, if a session occurs outside of your traditional working hours, or over a standard meal/break period, this must be discussed/approved with your supervisor in advance.
 - Commonwealth University is unable to authorize overtime, compensatory time, or any change to your standard working schedule.
- Please send requests for ADA accommodations to RA-CU@pa.gov as soon as possible.
 - Please contact RA-CU@pa.gov with any questions regarding booking policies.

How to book a virtual or classroom course in My Learning

Please review the CU Booking Policies and CU Cancellation Policies prior to registering for CU classes.

1. Go to ESS (<https://www.myworkplace.pa.gov/>).
2. Click the "My Learning" tile located under COPA Home. "My Learning" homepage appears.
3. Under "Find Learning," click on "Browse all courses."
4. Under "Source" on the left side, use the dropdown arrow to select "Commonwealth University."
5. Click the title of course you would like to attend. The Course Details page appears with the Description and Upcoming Classes.
6. Click on the class date and time you would like to attend.
7. Click the "Register" button on the right side of the page.
8. A message that your request has been received and is pending approval appears. Click "OK."

Helpful hint: For courses that have reached maximum capacity, you can click the "Waitlist Booking" link to join the waitlist, which works on a first come, first served basis. If you are at the top of the waitlist, you will be automatically booked when a place in the course opens due to cancellation. Please note: Being placed on a waitlist does not guarantee you a seat in the session.

9. The course will appear in your "My Learning Assignments." "Pending Approval" will appear next to the course dropdown arrow until your attendance is approved by your supervisor.

Helpful hint: Once your supervisor approves the request, you and your supervisor will receive a confirmation from the system. You will also receive a calendar invitation for the session. You must open and accept the calendar invitation for it to appear on your Outlook calendar. It may also be prudent to place a calendar hold for that time on your personal calendar, just in case.

If you are unable to self-register/self-cancel CU courses through My Learning, contact RA-CU@pa.gov. For courses found outside of the Commonwealth University catalog, please contact your agency learning officer.

Psychology of Choice: Crafting Decisions for Better Outcomes Virtual	Human beings often rely on a range of decision-making shortcuts that, while useful in making efficient choices, can also be self-sabotaging and lead to poor outcomes. This session will identify some of these shortcuts, then describe how choice architecture can be used to reframe a decision or modify its environment. From there we can “nudge” a decision-maker, whether that be ourselves or another, toward a more rational decision and/or behavioral change while at the same time limiting their choices or their freedom to choose. This course will look at examples from both the workplace and our everyday lives.	05/22/25 10:00am-12:00pm Josh Easton 06/30/25 09:00am-11:00am Nicholas Klimowicz	Virtual	$0

Diversity, Equity, Belonging & Inclusion (DEBI) Series

DEBI programs are an essential aspect of building engaged and happy employees. Organizations with strong diversity climates are more likely to have employees with increased job satisfaction, higher levels of trust, and are more engaged. When you make DEBI a priority, every facet of your organization benefits, including the bottom line. In this series, the Commonwealth offers several classes on important DEBI topics like Appreciating Differences at Work, Overcoming Unconscious Bias, Microaggressions in the Workplace, and more!

Appreciating Differences at Work Virtual	This virtual course explores patterns of communication in the workplace that ultimately do or do not lead to building a respectful and inclusive workplace. Course content primarily focuses on personal accountability and is highly introspective as learners identify the ways they may unknowingly perpetuate discrimination; hold internal beliefs that may or may not be fair; fall on a cultural competence continuum; view life through the lenses of others; and reflect on how frequently they intentionally interact with all co-workers. Join this session if you're ready to take a deeper look at the role you play in appreciating differences and finding commonalities of/with those you interact every day in a home or office-based work environment.	06/09/25 10:00am-12:00pm Suzanne Smith	Virtual Session	$0

Civility Virtual	Participants will discuss what incivility is, reasons why it exists in the workplace, the cost of incivility to the workplace and themselves, and how to respond to uncivil behavior confidently. They'll discover their own civility score and identify ways to be a catalyst for civility in the workplace and in their personal lives.	06/10/25 01:00pm-02:30pm Shamekia Smith-Tucker	Virtual Session	$0
DEI: Re-Imaging the Culture of the Workplace	Today, more and more companies are investing in making their workplaces better for their employees. A big part of this are words you have probably heard before – diversity, inclusion, and equity. But what exactly do they mean? Why are they needed? This session will bring clarity to these powerful words and their positive impact on employees and the organization. In addition to addressing the role that unconscious bias plays in hindering diversity initiatives, this session provides best practices for embracing diversity and fostering an inclusive culture. This course was originally conducted as a live virtual event. This WBT is a recording of that one-hour presentation. Microaggressions in the Workplace Virtual	Microaggressions are subtle comments or actions (intentional or unintentional) that can have a negative impact on others and the workplace. As one of many steps we can take to improve workplace culture, this session is designed to motivate employees to recognize microaggressions and respond in ways that can lead to positive change, whether they are a target, bystander, or have committed a microaggression. This session, designed for all employees, explains microaggressions and the effect they can have on others; examines why certain remarks are considered microaggressions; and provides guidance for responding to microaggressions in a positive and effective manner.	05/14/25 09:00am-12:00pm Angel M. Overcoming Unconscious Bias Virtual	If you are a human with a brain, you deal with the daily onslaught of information by generalizing, sorting, categorizing, and taking mental short cuts based on experience or familiarity. We do it unconsciously and it biases us toward or against certain people or things — which can mean we interact with them less effectively. In this course, participants will learn how biases influence their behavior so they can take action to create an inclusive culture — one where everyone can contribute, innovate, and provide solutions.	04/17/25 09:00am-12:00pm Angel M. Data Literacy Series – Operational Performance Management	This course is a follow up to the Moving from Hammer to Motivator course. Now that we have explored how our use of data determines buy-in and employee experience, we will continue to build on those foundations by exploring how to give context to our data through metrics. Metrics are often the primary way that employees experience data, but how effective are our metrics? Do they provide meaningful and timely insight for our decision, or have we fallen into the trap of measuring what is easiest to measure? During this course, we will differentiate commonly used metrics and explore famous author Ken Miller's three-step model to help determine what to measure to better understand business and customer needs. Additionally, we will review how to build structure around using your metrics to ensure they are more than just numbers on a wall and instead realize their potential as business drivers and enhancers.	06/03/25 09:00am-11:00am Josh Easton	Virtual Session	$0

Intentional Conversations for Supervisors Virtual	This course is based on the book You Have to Say the Words by Kathy Ryan. The actual words stated by supervisors and managers during face-to-face exchanges with team members have a critical impact on effective performance management. Primary emphasis is placed on how to intentionally frame conversations with employees when setting expectations, delivering sensitive feedback, coaching, offering praise, and addressing behavioral issues.	05/28/25 09:00am-11:30am Shelby Neumayer	Virtual Session	$0
Managing your former Peers for Supervisors Virtual	This course will help new and existing supervisors/managers deal with managing their former peers. As a supervisor or manager, you may have to deal with the disappointment of some of your former peers who were also in contention for the job you just got. This transition from team member to team leader could be awkward at first. This course is designed to help new and experienced supervisors and managers deal with the shift in the relationships by providing leadership strategies to establish yourself immediately as a confident leader.	06/05/25 09:00am-10:30am Joe Orndorff	Virtual Session	$0

Work-Related Injury

There are two different course offerings available to supervisors. You are only required to take ONE course offering depending on the employees you supervise. You should not sign up for both courses.

Supervisors should enroll in the course that matches their employees' work-related injury coverage.

If you are unsure as to which training to sign up for, please contact OA, Injury at RA-OAINJURY@pa.gov or by calling 717-857-3666.
