Introduction

The Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training Commission (hereafter referred to as “the Commission”) was statutorily created by Act 120 (hereafter referred to as “Act 120”) of 1974 in response to a federal study urging improved standards and goals in police training. The Commission was charged with establishing and administering the Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training Program. Responsibility for administration of the program was given to the Pennsylvania State Police (PSP) as described in 53 Pa. C.S. Chapter 21, Subchapter D.

Commission Composition

The Commission is comprised of 20 members, as required by Act 120. Six seats on the Commission are ex officio positions while the remaining members are appointed by the Governor for a term of three years. Notwithstanding the reimbursement of essential expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, Commission members serve without compensation. The Commission is required to meet at least four times annually and may hold special meetings as necessary. Special meetings are called by the Chairman or at the request of at least five Commission members. The Commission has committees comprised of Commission members that usually meet prior to each regular Commission meeting, to address specific areas of the Commission’s business.

As required by Act 120, the Commission members shall consist of:

- The Commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police (Chairperson). *
- The Attorney General of the Commonwealth. *
- The Secretary of the Department of Community and Economic Development. *
- The Police Commissioner of Philadelphia. *
- One member of the PA Senate, appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate. *
- One member of the PA House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. *
- Four elected officials, appointed by the Governor, including one from a borough, a second-class township, a first-class township, and a city.
- Four incumbent chiefs of police, appointed by the Governor, including one chief from a borough department, a township department, and a city department.
- One member of the Fraternal Order of Police, appointed by the Governor.
- One educator qualified in the field of law enforcement, appointed by the Governor.
- One member representing the public at large, appointed by the Governor.

Commission Staff

The PSP is responsible for the administration of the program. The Commission, by statute, elects an Executive Director who is responsible for the day-to-day Commission responsibilities. The Executive Director and Commission staff are assigned to an office within the PSP and report to the Deputy Commissioner of Administration and Professional Responsibility. The Commission produces an annual report concerning the administration of its programs and provides recommendations for executive or legislative action necessary for the improvement of law enforcement and the administration of justice. The Commission receives legal services from an Assistant Counsel assigned to the PSP from the Governor's Office of General Counsel. The Commission office is located at 8002 Bretz Drive, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania and consists of 19 staff members, including enlisted and civilian PSP personnel. The Commission has an annual budget of approximately two million dollars to cover personnel, general operating expenses, curriculum development, and fixed asset expenses.

The Commission staff oversees the training and certification requirements of municipal police officers under Act 120. Officers require certification by the Commission prior to enforcing the Crimes Code, moving violations of the Vehicle Code, or carrying a firearm. Certification is granted by Commission vote when all criteria of the attendant regulations are met and upon successful completion of the municipal police officer certification exam, which is administered by the Commission staff. To verify that all Act 120 certified police officers continue to meet certification standards, the Commission staff conducts a biennial recertification.

The Commission staff also oversees the development, presentation, and documentation of the basic municipal police officer training curriculum, which currently consists of 919 hours of classroom and practical training conducted by Commission-certified academies and instructors. In addition, the staff reviews and approves various waivers of training for qualified law enforcement officers as provided for in Act 120 and Act 165 of 2012, conducts annual inspections of certified academies, and conducts investigations of academies failing to comply with regulatory standards.

Act 180 of 1988 requires Act 120 certified police officers to obtain 12 hours of in-service training annually to maintain their certification. Each year the Commission staff develops 12 hours of in-service training which can be taken in the classroom or on-line. The Commission decides which training is "required" (essential training; for example, changes to the law and application of case law or legislatively mandated training) and which training/hours are elective. The Commission staff also reviews, approves, and tracks over 600 additional Continuing Law Enforcement Education (CLEE) courses, which can be used as credit toward the elective training requirement for recertification.

Act 235 of 1974, commonly referred to as the Lethal Weapons Training Act (LWTA), requires anyone carrying a lethal weapon (as defined in the Act) in conjunction with his or her employment, unless exempted, to receive training and meet certification requirements. The PSP oversees the LWTA program and the Commission staff administers the program on their behalf. The Commission staff approves new applications, renews certifications, and when applicable, suspends certifications for the Commonwealth's lethal weapons agents.

The Commission staff performs annual inspections of the certified schools conducting basic and renewal LWTA classes, approves or declines applications for new schools, approves or declines applications for new instructors, and suspends or decertifies schools failing to comply with regulations.

Act 79 of 2005, the Retired Law Enforcement Officers Identification Act (RLEIA), established Pennsylvania's program responsive to the Federal Law Enforcement Officers Safety Act (LEOSA) of 2004, as amended, regarding the authorization for qualified active and retired law enforcement officers to carry firearms if they meet specific criteria. Act 79 requires Commission staff to administer aspects of RLEIA including certifying firearms instructors, managing qualification cards, tracking annual qualifications, processing money orders, and logging Instructor and Sheriff Office reports.

Act 57 of 2020 required the Commission to develop a database to hold separation records of all "law enforcement officers" in the Commonwealth (defined as "peace officers" in Title 18 Pa. C.S. § 501). This term is broad and includes law enforcement officers that work for state agencies, county agencies, and municipal departments, as well as school police and private police working for certain organizations like universities or hospitals. The database was operational on July 14, 2021 and agencies continue to enroll.

Recommendations

Title 53, Chapter 21, Subchapter D § 2170 (a) states “the commission shall provide for reimbursement to each municipality of the entire amount of the allowable tuition and the ordinary and necessary living and travel expenses incurred by their police officers while attending certified municipal police basic training schools”. § 2170 (b) permits the Commission to approve in-service training grants for non-mandatory training expenses incurred by municipalities while § 2170 (d) permits the Commission to pay for the cost of mandatory in-service training for some certified officers.

In 2013, because the Commission had no funds from which to provide these reimbursements, the General Assembly passed Act 89, which allocated five million dollars of funding to the Commission, each fiscal year, to reimburse municipalities for municipal police training. Reimbursement under this funding source is limited to expenses which are consistent with Article VIII, § 11 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

Based on the authorizations permitted in the regulations, there are approximately twelve million dollars of annual training expenses for which MPOETC would be able to reimburse municipalities if the funds were available. The additional, unreimbursed expenses, along with the cost of living and travel expenses, are currently absorbed by municipalities. Municipalities also bear the cost of procuring ammunition and conducting required firearms qualifications as well as recertifying officers in CPR/AED/First Aid. Based on the gap between reimbursable expenses and available funds, additional sources of funds should be identified to allow the Commission to comply with the statutory requirements of the Municipal Police Training Act.

Act 120 Basic Training

Candidates for certification as municipal police officers must meet the training requirements of the act. Those who have not previously completed a basic municipal police academy must do so. Cadets who are hired by a police department before attending the academy are referred to as “hired” cadets while those who are still seeking employment are referred to as “pre-service” cadets. The following data reflects the numbers of individuals who were enrolled in basic police officer training at certified academies from January 1, 2021 to December 31, 2021:

Total Enrolled (class started) in 2021:	702

Act 120 Officer Certification

The Commission staff administers certification of municipal police officers employed by certified municipal police departments. To be certified, municipal police officers must pass the state certification exam. Applicants can apply to take the certification exam if they have successfully completed the basic police academy or if they are granted a waiver based on previous training and employment. Applicants who are currently or conditionally hired by a police department are referred to as “hired” candidates while those who are still seeking employment are referred to as “pre-service” candidates. As noted below, at the end of 2021 there were 21,309 certified municipal police officers employed in Pennsylvania. The following data reflects the activities related to the Law Enforcement Officer Database from July 14, 2021 to December 31, 2021.

Law enforcement agencies who employ law enforcement officers provide preliminary information about the officers employed by the agency. When an officer separates from an agency, the agency submits a separation record to MPOETC. When an agency hires a new officer, the agency requests separation records from MPOETC and then provides a hiring report if one is required. In 2021, there were 1,143 law enforcement agencies employing 30,990 law enforcement officers uploaded in the database. In 2021, law enforcement agencies did not hire any officers for whom they would have been required to submit a hiring report.

Participating Law Enforcement Agencies:	1,143
Law Enforcement Officers:	30,990
Separation Records Submitted:	1,397
Requests for Separation Records:	1,348

Act 79 Retired Law Enforcement Officer Identification

The Commission staff completed the following activities related to the RLEIA program from January 1, 2021 to December 31, 2021.

Trained Firearms Instructors requesting recognition as Certified Law Enforcement Firearms Instructors (as defined in Federal and State statutes) may submit an application to the Commission staff for approval. Those who wish to conduct qualifications for retired officers under the RLEIA program can elect to have their contact information posted on the Commission's website. There are currently over 2,619 Certified Law Enforcement Firearms Instructors who have elected to participate as firearms instructors for retired officers. In 2021, these instructors issued 6,752 qualification cards purchased from the Commission.

RLEIA Instructors: 2,619

Cards Issued: 6,752

Officers are given a qualification card upon completion of the qualification course of fire and must present the card to their County Sheriff's Office for a background check. Upon completing the background check, the Sheriff's Office annotates it on the qualification card and provides a log of all checks to the Commission staff. The Commission staff processed 1,821 separate Sheriff's Office logs documenting background checks of retired law enforcement officers.

Sheriff's Logs Received: 1,821
