Cooperating Processors and Taxidermists

Why are there restrictions on the movement of high-risk parts?

High-risk parts contain the highest concentration of CWD prions and pose a risk of spreading CWD to other deer and elk if exposed. Therefore, regulations prohibit the disposal of high-risk cervid parts on the landscape once moved from the location of harvest. Once moved, high-risk carcass parts must be disposed of with a commercial trash service. The movement of high-risk carcass parts is a potential avenue through which CWD could be spread.

What are high-risk carcass parts?

High-risk carcass parts include: head (including brain, tonsils, eyes, and lymph nodes); spinal cord/backbone (vertebra); spleen; skull plate with attached antlers, if visible brain or spinal cord material is present; cape, if visible brain or spinal cord material is present; upper canine teeth, if root structure or other soft material is present; any object or article containing visible brain or spinal cord material; and brain-tan
